Hello From
ROI4PRESENTER

Roi4Presenter is a web service and mobile application for online presentations and product demo, lead generation and outreach

The presenter can make a presentation at any time, by sending a link to the listener. The listener can watch it online right away or later, as the presentation is recorded, ask questions, rate slides and share. The presenter is notified when someone connects and can join the presentation live, take control, and dialogue with the listener. You can highlight only the most important content in the presentation, and show the main idea/feature in 2-3 minutes in the special 'pitch' mode.

Engage your audience, improve your presentations and save time!

About us

Now you can make several presentations at the same time without being personally present.

To make a presentation, the presenter only needs to provide the audience a link, by which the recorded presentation will be open to them at any time.

The presenter will receive a notification when the listener follows the link and they can join and continue to control the presentation live and communicate in real time.
